

Deer Creek Yields Big Ones on Opening

HEBER CITY-Deer Creek Reservoir was one of several lakes throughout the state which opened for fishing last weekend. Deer Creek, a popular draw was one of the most heavily fished in the state on the opener.

There was an estimated 6,000 fishermen on the reservoir, and most met with good luck, as they brought in good sized trout. Deer Creek was stocked for the opening day by the Division of Wildlife, with more than 200,000 trout.

Shore fishermen near the Island Boat Camp and in the Charleston area near the inlet seemed to have the best luck. Arnold Bangerter, a fisheries biologist in charge of stocking, says he expects fishing at Deer Creek to improve dramatically when water temperatures warm a few more degrees.

Deer Creek has always been a favorite for Wasatch Front fishermen, as it is close to the front, and provides a wide variety of fishing. Large mouth bass and yellow perch are among the different species that can be caught. Many of the fishermen found Brown and Rainbow. There were even some albino trout caught.

Average weight of the trout on the opener seemed to be well over a pound. Other areas in Wasatch County will be opened later in the year.

Deer Creek Reservoir was crowded as were most other reservoirs which opened recently, however, Deer

Creek showed off its catch giving up some huge fish.
